

Additional Medical Savings Account contributions

It is important that we plan ahead for the unforeseen. Especially when it comes to the health of our families. At Fedhealth, we're all about empowering our members to do just that.

Fedhealth members are allowed to make additional, voluntary contributions to their Medical Savings Accounts (MSAs) or in the case of members on the flexiFED options, to their Nominal Savings Accounts. This means that members can top up their Savings throughout the year, which might just come in really handy for those unexpected medical expenses.

Please note the following

Members who pay their monthly contributions by debit order, will have to make a separate payment to the Scheme that will go towards their Savings accounts.

Members cannot ask their employers to deduct an additional amount from their salary and pay it over to the Scheme. They have to make the payment themselves via direct deposit or internet banking.

Please note: Members have to pay their Savings top-up into a different bank account, and not the same account used for their contribution payments:

Fedhealth Medical Scheme PMSA

Nedbank account number: 1029 279 489

Branch: Corporate Client Services

Branch code: 19 87 65

Deposit reference: Include SAV (savings) and your 11-digit membership number e.g. SAV80xxxxxxxx

Please forward proof of payment to topup@fedhealth.co.za

The money will be available in members' MSAs within a few days. They can log onto fedhealth.co.za and check the Savings balance to see if it's reflecting as available. Normal Savings Account rules will apply to these funds.

If members have questions about this great way to be more prepared for unforeseen medical events, simply call our Fedhealth Customer Contact Centre on 0860 002 153.
